

The Novato Charter School Non-Discrimination Policy

The Novato Charter School strongly supports diversity and the honoring of all people, beliefs, and cultures both locally and globally. A core element of the Novato Charter School curriculum is to educate our students in the wide array of cultures and belief systems, both past and present, and to treat everyone's beliefs and culture with respect.

As such, The Novato Charter School has a very strong non-discrimination policy and does not discriminate against employees or students based on mental or physical handicap or disability, race, color, gender, gender identity, national origin, ethnicity, sexual orientation, age, religion, marital status, familial status, economic class, source of income, physical characteristics, or linguistic characteristics of a national origin group.
